THUNDERBIRDS

In a family of heroes, young Alan Tracy is always being left out.

While his father, billionaire and former astronaut Jeff Tracy and his four elder brothers are busy saving the world, Alan dreams of one day joining them in their global vocation and getting into the driver's seat of one of the awesome, incredible machines the Tracy's utilise in their life-saving work: the Thunderbirds.

The most ambitious project to date undertaken by Working Title Films (the makers of Four Weddings and a Funeral, Notting Hill, Bridget Jones's Diary and Love Actually), THUNDERBIRDS is based on the cult favourite '60s British television series of the same name, which followed the adventures of the Tracy family and their astounding fleet of International Rescue vehicles.

The amazing final scenes of the film were shot in and around the centre of London. THUNDERBIRDS makes use of the fantastic locations the city has to offer and highlights many popular sites such as Tower Bridge and the BA London Eye. As Thunderbird 2 soars over the Thames, its spectacular flight shows off London as you have never seen it before.

- Canary Wharf
- Tower Bridge - The World is Not Enough, The Mummy Returns, Bridget Jones's Diary and Lara Croft: Tomb Raider also shot here
- City Hall - Love Actually also shot here
- BA London Eye - Love Actually also shot here
- Jubilee Gardens
- Houses of Parliament - The World is Not Enough and Alfie also shot here
- Westminster Bridge - 28 Days Later and 102 Dalmatians also shot here
- Hungerford and Waterloo Bridges
- Nelson's Column - Love Actually also shot here
